

MENTAL HEALTH AND THE IMPACT ON WELLNESS

For Farm Families

Many of the factors that affect agricultural production are largely beyond the control of the producer. Good health, including mental health, is a key factor that contributes to one's ability to keep farming.

Twenty-one percent of all US adults, including farmers and ranchers, have mental health complications. Anxiety and depression are the most common. This percentage can be higher in certain population groups.

WHEN YOU TALK TO YOUR HEALTH CARE PROVIDER:

- Be pro-active; ask about potential signs of stress, anxiety, or depression
- Speak openly about stressful issues in your work and home life
- Be familiar with your family medical history related to depression or other contributing behavioral issues
- List any prescribed and over-the-counter medications you take
- Share information about smoking habits, alcohol, pain medication, and other mood-altering substance use with your healthcare provider
- Inquire about a referral to a mental health specialist
- Know what your insurance coverage is for mental health care. Ask about other resources if you aren't covered.

FACTORS IMPACTING WELLNESS

STRESS is our response to anything that threatens our physical, emotional or financial health or survival. A stressor is an event, series of events that harms or threatens an individual and causes him or her to respond. When we suffer from too much stress, for too long a period of time, it is called distress. Persistent, extended periods of negative stress can precede other issues impacting mental wellness. It is often difficult for people to distinguish between depression and stress.

DEPRESSION is a disorder that affects the biochemical balance of the brain and causes symptoms such as low energy level, sadness, physical impairments, low self-esteem and problems thinking. Depression may be diagnosed when multiple symptoms are present for more than two weeks.

ANXIETY disorders are the most common of all behavioral health conditions. Anxiety includes fears, apprehensive mood, feelings of dread and worried thoughts and behaviors. Some types of anxiety disorders include panic disorder, post-traumatic stress disorder, obsessive - compulsive disorder, and phobias. Untreated anxiety can lead to depression, substances abuse and poor self-esteem.

SUICIDE comments should never be discounted. Always respond immediately.
